July Weddings of Interest

CRABE-BROTHERWOOD

The English Lutheran church in Calgary was the scene of a lovely wedding of interest to Armada, Lomond and West Calgary districts on Thursday, June 26, at 3 p.m., when Dorothy Lillian, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brotherhood, became the bride of George Herbert Craine of Armada, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Craine of Spring Bank. Rev. Miller officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely floor-length dress of white satin and lace, the bodice was of white pleated satin with long lily-point sleeves. The skirt was of gored of satin and lace. She wore a chapel veil held in place by a wreath of lilies of the valley. A single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, was her only jewellery. She carried a bouquet of salmon pink gladioli and fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Kate Brotherhood, sister of the bride, wore a floor-length dress of pink silk organza with lily-point sleeves. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white sweet peas and fern.

Mr. Geo. Stokes, brother-in-law of the groom, was the best man.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue printed silk dress with a corsage of Tullman roses, while the groom's mother chose a white silk suit with a corsage of Tullman roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Empress Grill for the immediate families.

The bride and groom spent their honeymoon in Calgary and at the home of the groom's parents in Spring Bank. For going away the bride wore a lime green suit with brown piping and a wine and gray tweed topcoat. Mr. and Mrs. Craine are making their home in Armada where the former is farming.

JOHNSON-WISMER

Red and white peonies and ferns made an attractive setting at the Central Church of Christ at high noon Saturday, June 28, when Ruth Angeline, daughter of Mrs. A. Wismer of Lethbridge, became the bride of Gerald Olstad Johnson of Edmonton, formerly of Lethbridge, son of Mrs. Martha Johnson of Edmonton. Rev. E. G. Hansell, M.P., who returned from Ottawa for the occasion, performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harry D. Wismer. Her gown was of sheer white nylon marquisette which featured long full sleeves and embroidered five-knots on the bodice. A coronet of orange blossoms held her long veil in place and she carried a bouquet of red and white roses and sweet peas. Miss Wilma Wismer,

Describes Hardships Under Which British Are Bowed

Mrs. Dan McNiven After 10 Months in Scotland Tells of Experiences. Suggests Most Needed Parcels

Mrs. Dan McNiven of Vulcan has returned this month from an extended visit overseas. She returned from Scotland to Montreal by plane, which made a quick easy trip. Her visit in Scotland extended over ten months, which she spent with her father, who is 83 years of age, and her brothers and sisters.

Her long sojourn gave her new light on the hardships which people of the British Isles are enduring. During her months' overseas, she herself lost 25 pounds and she says that the food rations have driven the women of the British Isles to open protest and revolt. They are really "on the fight" protesting the rations, and protesting also the nature of imports which bring in pineapples and luxuries that the average person cannot afford to buy. The vital foods are insufficient and under too severe ration, so that housewives cannot possibly provide adequate, appetizing meals. They have endured too long and are fed up. One of the greatest protests is against Strachey, the Minister of Food. They want him replaced by someone more understanding of family needs.

What They Need

Since many organizations and individuals are sending food parcels to the old country, and have inquired what is most required Mrs. McNiven has some information to pass on. She says the tea ration has been cut, and tea would be immensely appreciated. Also they need pudding powders, any kind of canned meat or fish, jams, Kraft dinners, soups, canned fruits, honey, etc. Saccharine is used extensively and would be very welcome. Foods of this nature are most urgently needed and would be deeply appreciated.

Babies do get their allocation of milk, but the pre-school age children do not fare so well. The latter effect of the long continued shortage in rations rests heavily on the minds of mothers of families.

Prices Exorbitant

Wages are good as a general rule, but there is little satisfaction because rationing is so strict and even with good wages prices are exorbitant. For instance, before

Rain Needed In This Area

The extreme heat of the last few days has caused a general set back to the crops in this district. Tuesdays hot wind took a lot of the reserve moisture. Rain is badly needed before the hot weather cuts the yield below normal.

T.C.A. service to Australia may be started in 1948.

as her sister's bridesmaid, chose a gown styled exactly like the bride's only in pale blue. She carried pink sweet peas and snapdragons. Mr. Brian Sproule of Edmonton supported the groom. Ushers were Mr. Robert Cosgrove and Mr. Kenneth Cox of Edmonton. During the signing of the register Mr. Geo. Brown sang, with Mrs. E. G. Hansell as organ accompanist.

The reception followed in the Marquis hotel where the luncheon tables were decorated with pink and white sweet peas. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. George Brown with the groom responding.

The bride and groom left later by plane to spend their honeymoon in Great Falls, Mont. They both wore matching brown tweed tailored suits.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Margaret Johnson, Mr. Brian Sproule, Mr. Kenneth Cox, Mr. Robert Cosgrove, Mr. Dana Murray, and Mr. Edward Cutts, all of Edmonton; Mrs. V.F. Speir, Calgary; Mrs. W. Peters, Mrs. C. B. Shimp, Mrs. J. H. Deans, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hansell, Mr. and Mrs. S. Tuttle and Mr. Alan Smith, all of Vulcan; Mr. H. S. Fry, Winnipeg; and Mr. R. D. Wismer, Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home in Edmonton.

Lions' Rodeo And Carnival Friday - Saturday

All that remains to make the Lions Rodeo and Carnival, to be held Friday and Saturday of this week, one of the best in the Province is the weatherman. The committee is assured of a large entry in all events and a large number of workers are busy getting the grounds in the best of condition for the big event.

The town has started to take on the appearance of the holiday, at the time of writing Gordon Cranston, Fleming and McIntyre, Lloyds Jewelry and Simpson and Son have gaily decorated feed stalls in front of their stores and several merchants have had their windows painted with designs interpreting the spirit of the Rodeo.

Arrangements are now complete for the Carnival and Dance being held in the skating arena each night.

The proceeds of the two days will be applied on the outstanding balance owing on the Memorial Swimming Pool.

Local Cadets Report Good Time

Cadet Sgt. Arthur Chell Cleans Up Track And Field Meet, Winning Four Cups And Champs Trophy.

Eight cadets comprising Cadet Sgts. Arthur Chell, Wedell Wolfe, Cadet Cpl. G. Peck, Cadets R. Hammer, S. Mainland, G. Benoit, G. Nault and R. Walker; and the two local instructors, J. Majakey and J. L. Findlay, returned Saturday from the ten day Cadet Camp held at Camp Sarcee near Calgary.

With the exception of a brief but violent thunderstorm on Thursday evening last, ideal hot weather prevailed throughout the ten days so that a full program was enjoyed. Training consisted of two main features, namely sports and demonstrations of weapon training by the Princess Patricia's and Lord Strathcona Horse units stationed at Currie Barracks. Drill and marching were held to a minimum. Fatigues and "K. P." were very light. The ten days of Sarcee sunshine, hearty meals and sleeping under canvas resulted in the boys returning with real good tans and a marked gain in weight. The medical staff reported no serious illnesses among the 650 cadets at camp and a remarkably small number of minor complaints.

Entertainment of various kinds was available every evening and each day fifty cadets went to H.C.M.S. Tecumseh for a swim, another fifty went to Bowness and a third party of fifty went to St. George's Island. On two occasions a truck load of cadets were admitted free to baseball games at the Buffalo Stadium.

The Vulcan Cadets arrived late Thursday evening to find their tents and mattresses ready for them, and they had their blankets, sun helmets, utensils and khaki drill shirts and pants drawn from stores and were asleep in short order.

Reveille came at 7:00 daily except for the last day when they were roused at 5:00 a.m. Fast time. Breakfast at 7:30 and tents rolled and kit laid out neatly occupied the time till they paraded at 8:30. Off duty again at 12:00 and dinner at 12:30. On parade again at 1:30 to finish at 4:00 o'clock when they made up their tents. Supper was at 5:00 and the evenings entertainment started at 6:30 p.m. Late supper from 9:30 to 10:00 and "Lights Out" at 10:45 found the majority quite ready for sleep after a busy day.

There were free picture shows every evening and the canteen did a thriving business. Meals were very good and the size of the appetites was a constant source of amazement. Double Mens rations were issued for each cadet daily, and very little was ever left over.

At memorial services for Viscount Bennett held in Ottawa, all political parties stood together. Three former Conservative government members were present.

Prince Edward Island is being washed away 2 feet at a time, all round the island every year. But on the other hand in some sections sea level is banking up and extending the island's area.

Attendance at the Calgary Stampede has dropped a little below 1946. But American tourists are there in greater numbers than ever.

THOSE FLYING SAUCERS

ONE of the happiest theories in connection with these flying saucers which have been seen far and wide, is that they may be coming from another world. This has many more important possibilities than the other theory that they are just spots before the eyes caused by too much drinking.

If the flying discs could be established as coming from another civilization—probably hostile—on some other planet, it wouldn't take the world long to tighten up and forget its feuding. Truman, Attlee and Stalin would get together like a flash. The Arab would lie down with the Jew. The strikers would be too scared to strike, and the regime of capitalism would find a greater alarm than communism.

Even in High River, a good many things that are now fruitful sources of irritation and disagreement would fade into proper perspective as quite inconsequential. There is nothing that holds people together like a common danger.

So if the flying saucers are spies of an infinitely sensitive and searching nature from some other planet, it will bring us close to the reality of "one world." And if we are exterminated en masse by flying weapons from another world, that will at least save our face before our Maker. Left to ourselves we are quite capable of destroying each other in another war, or through the man-created atomic bomb. But if the man from Mars gets after us first, we can leave this world with clean hands. At least we didn't do it ourselves.

The scientists on this earth will take it pretty hard if they find there are smarter, more destructive scientists on other planets. But that too, will give new goals to shoot at, and take their minds off destroying fellow man.

Nobody seems to be taking the flying saucers very seriously, which is just as well. If the world at large responded to every new rumor and every new potential horror, hysteria would reign. It's a great thing to have little daily chores that take up time and thought. Ordinary people know quite well that they are walking a tight rope, but in the meantime there are the chores to be done.

Pertinent Topics

Discussed by H.C.

British dailies are being reduced again to four pages. In Canada and the U.S. the sky's the limit, though our pulp resources are being depleted by bugs and fire as well as unnecessarily large newspapers. Once in a while, of course, we do have scrap paper collections by way of saving at the spigot.

President Truman has nearly a year and a half to serve even if he is not re-elected, and if he has labor troubles to worry him it will be partly his own fault. His reckless, unrestrained condemnation of the Taft-Hartley bill which he must administer was incitement to rebellion against it which John L. Lewis's private army was quick to use with quick profits.

Ottawa is always leery about making martial commitments toward Britain but note how eagerly she endorsed a marital engagement there and how proud she was about being consulted and informed in advance—as to the goings-on.

One despatch says it was not necessary that Canada be consulted, but that it would have been unwise not to. It sure would. Downing Street knows from long experience how sensitive Ottawa is and how prone to look for slights from that quarter.

Western Union announces that a new radio beam will supplant telephone and telegraph poles and lines. Too bad! How can we describe to our children yet unborn how high the snow banks were last winter?

That secret session of parliament one day last week, was not secret after all. Neither was that one during the war which Fred Rose, then Communist M.P., attended.

There are differences of opinion among those present as to what L. B. Pearson, chief spokesman for the government, really said. This is singular for he is not given to tergiversation or double talk. It is therefore thought that the text was clarified in advance by the Prime Minister.

The Veterans' Affairs Minister told the Commons it made his Highland blood boil to hear what Douglass Harkness, M.P., said about General Odum. What would have happened if the member had commented upon the Minister's own war record?

It is unkind to remark that the flying saucers" alleged to be seen in the skies are seen only by men in their cups.

Finland was the first to shy away from the Anglo-French conference in Paris. If free she would have been the first to accept, but she lives too near Russia and has already felt the heel's heel. She knows how little confidence to place on Molotov's dictum that big powers should not interfere with smaller powers.

Britain joined with France in another effort to induce Russia to join the conference on Saturday. In thus pressing the disturber, they were taking the risk that she might accept, but these things have to be done to placate fifth columns.

One of the assurances that Molotov demanded in connection with the Marshall offer was that Congress would ratify it if accepted by the European nations. Therein he showed some appreciation of the difference between the Russian and the American democracy. Under the Russian system there is no Congress that has to be consulted by the fourteen odd people who compose the Politburo.

Describes Hardships

Mrs. McNiven left Scotland they were paying 84 cts. a lb. for carrots, one dollar for one peach and 20 cents for a plum.

Food ration is 2 oz. of bacon per week, 2 oz. butter and 2 oz. tea. Coffee is not rationed but is not as popular a beverage as tea. The meat ration is 28 cts. worth of meat a week, and the meat mostly available within that ration is not likely to stimulate the appetite. When you eat sausage, you wonder what it really is. There is a deadly monotony in the average fare.

Clothing points are also depressing. The allotment is 32 coupons for seven months. It takes 3 coupons for a pair of stockings, 7 for a pair of shoes, 18 for a coat. That leaves nothing for underwear, towels, bedding, or such household staples, and the people have gone short on these things so long that there is great depletion of such necessary stocks. Clothing is also high in price. A pair of red wedgies for instance cost 4 pounds.

Cold and Hungry
Last winter was a terrible and costly experience all over the British Isles. The great majority of people had neither adequate warmth nor appetizing food to bolster them up through the bitter winter. The allotment of coal was 84 lbs. a week.

There were four million lambs lost in Scotland in the storms. Livestock was fed in many cases with feed dropped from planes, and even outlying hospitals had to have mail and supplies dropped down by air.

In the lend-lease arrangement it was claimed by the women that two much importation was tobacco, at the sacrifice of greater necessities. So there was quite a storm on that count, and many a man sacrificed the solace of tobacco. He just couldn't afford it.

W. I. Quilts from Canada
On the plane trip to Canada Mrs. McNiven was in conversation with a woman who had been visiting round Glasgow. She visited a 1000 bed hospital outside Glasgow, and was filled with pride to find that every one of those 1000 beds was covered by a quilt made by the Canada W.I. Evidences of the thought and generosity of Canadian organizations and individuals were to be found on every hand and had gone far in relieving the difficulties of the British people. Mrs. McNiven felt specially interested in the word of W.I. gifts because her cousin is president of the second oldest W.I. in Scotland.

Hardships experienced in Scotland are equally applicable to England, where conditions may be even more acute. Ireland, however, appears to be suffering less acutely.

Meet Another Old Timer Billy Henry Came In 1885

(By Guy Weakick)

First Cowboy Job on Little Bow.
Then Back to Ranching with Bar
U Outfit. Then to Lethbridge.
Billy Henry came to Manitoba

from the Old Country in 1879 and came to High River in 1885. His first cowboy job was with the Boat Hook outfit on the Little Bow, owned by Charlie Spalding. At that time some of those running cattle in the High River district outside of the Bar U were Dan Riley of the Flying U, John Quirk, John Sullivan of the I.S., who later ran his cattle on Sullivan Creek, Tom Lynch of the T.L., who was running his outfit with headquarters on the south side of the Highwood, opposite the former Bar U headquarters who had then moved to Pekisko. Their former headquarters was occupied for a couple of years by Walter Screen and later became the High River Horse Ranch owned by General McPherson and Major Eckford. This outfit was later taken over by the son of Major Eckford who sold it about the time of World War I to the Sibley interests, who only a few years ago sold it to Mr. Roenish who still operates it. This outfit has been known for years as the Round T.

Wm. Iken whose ranch was located on the Middle Fork about five miles down from Pekisko, the Ings Bros. of the O.H. on the north fork of the Highwood.

After leaving the Spalding ranch Billy went to work for Tom Lynch on the T.L. He had a brother Tom Henry who also worked on various ranches in the district as well as some further south. Tom Henry later operated his own ranch for years on the Little Bow, and today his son, Alex. Henry and his sons continue to be actively engaged in the agricultural industry in this district.

When Billy quit the T.L. he next drew wages from Ross and Podger on the Little Bow, and from there to the Bar X Y owned by Sampson & Hardford, after a couple of years with this outfit he went to work for George Ross (later known for his polo activities) who had bought out the Ross & Podger outfit. His next move was in partnership with Harry Baines to buy the only hotel in High River, which then stood on the corner just west of where the Astoria hotel now stands.

When the Klondyke gold rush started, Billy left for the gold fields, leaving Baines to conduct the hotel business. Frank Beddingfield who was operating the N ranch (now the property of the Duke of Windsor) also left for the Yukon accompanied by Glen Campbell, later Dominion Indian Commissioner. These two men started for the Klondyke via Edmonton, and although never reaching the gold fields, had harrowing experiences, and finally returned to civilization barely escaping with their lives. Billy Henry's trip to the gold fields was via a different route. Pat Burns was making an effort to get Alberta beef cattle into the gold camps of the north and he put Billy in charge of a nine man crew to make the attempt.

They started from the coast on a 1200 ton scow pulled by a tugboat. The scow was equipped with pens to hold 200 cattle and 22 horses, as well as accommodations for nine men and a summer's supply of grub. This outfit unloaded at Pyramid Harour, reckoned to be about 600 miles from Dawson City. The stock then started overland up the trail. When only 150 miles from Dawson winter set in and as they had reached a point where the mountain came right down to the river they could not go back through the mountains and try to get through. They butchered the cattle at this point. Went along the river where a small lumber camp had been started and Billy arranged for lumber and the building of two scows. Upon these the horses, men, equipment and the carcasses of the butchered cattle (now well frozen) were transported to Dawson City, on the river, in the middle of the stream, between ice extending out from both sides. Following this trip Billy made others in delivering the Burns' cattle to the gold fields. In the late fall of 1889 he returned to High River just as the Boer War was getting under way. Harry Baines who had been running the hotel insisted it was now his turn to take a holiday so he joined up and went off to the Boer War leaving Billy to conduct the hotel operations. That winter was a busy one for High River, the hotel and Billy's adjacent corrals. Lane and others were bringing in hundreds of horses, the town was filled with horse breakers, cowpunchers, horse buyers, etc., and as a result Billy Henry's Hotel was doing a real business.

Along about 1902 he sold out the hotel and started a ranch of his own on the Little Bow which he ran for about three years when he sold the ranch but retained his cattle which numbered about 1000 head, and moved them down on the Big Bow along with the Bar U cattle where he was engaged by Lane to run the Bar U stock on that range. Billy Henry was the first wagon boss for the Bar U on the Big Bow.

It may be of interest to some to know that during the time that Billy ran this outfit for the Bar U, he had as many as 26,000 cattle on that range. Cowpunchers from every range in North America worked on the Bar U outfit on the Bow under Billy Henry. Among them was Albert Smith of High River, Maxwell from Colorado, Bill Greer from Texas, Pete Smith of Oklahoma and Shell Gillespie from Arizona.

A cook was kept at the ranch all the year around and the round-up cook was employed from April into November as that was the length of time the wagon worked the range. The outfit employed a crew of 14 riders most all year around, a cook and horse wrangler. The top riders each had about 11 horses in their string while the others had eight head each. Naturally extra horses were carried in the cavy to take care of cripples,

Agriculture In Great Britain

(By H.G.L. Strange of Sparle Grain Co.)

To a Western Canadian, British agriculture holds many surprises. British farms, for instance, are somewhat larger than I expected to see. The average farm, I was told, consists of 140 acres; some smaller, some larger—There has been a tendency in the past few years to consolidate several farms under one management to cut down overhead expenses. I was told there are at least 20 farms in Britain today that have well over 2,000 acres each. There are more tractors per thousands acres in Britain than on our prairies, indeed, it is seldom that one sees a horse-drawn implement in the fields. Flying over Europe and then over Britain one observes that the fields of Europe, like fields in Canada, are either square or oblong with straight sides; it is seldom, however, that one sees a straight-sided field in Britain; they seem to be of irregular shapes caused I was told, by the irregular paths and streams, which centuries ago, meandered throughout the countryside. — The yields of crops in Britain are about twice as high as in our West for the simple reason that the rainfall is about twice as much as we have. — The larger British farms use Combines but they cannot swath as we do in Canada because of the excessive rain in the autumn; straight combining is the rule, but the grain when combined is usually damp or tough, and so these large farms are obliged to use artificial driers which effectively and cheaply dry the grain soon after it is threshed. — British farms diversify their crops to a much greater extent than is practiced in Canada; I visited several farms that were growing 12 to 14 different kinds of crops; much of this is done to find work for labour throughout the year, that is why some wheat must always be grown in Britain, for it gives work in the fall and at other times of the year when labour would ordinarily not be fully occupied. — I was greatly surprised at the amount of male and female labour, that is used even on a moderate-sized farm; the women being a carryover in the main from the Women's Land Army that did such magnificent work for Britain on the land during the course of the war. Their farm labour, as a whole, however, seemed to me to be inefficient as compared with our Western hired help. Their labour appeared to lack that energy, speed, enterprise and initiative which so characterizes Canadian hired farm help. I felt an urge in me to try to hurry them up a bit, "to get them going" as we say in this country. Their official hours, too, seemed to be considerably shorter than the hours worked on our prairies.

Breakdown of Fed. Expenditures

Canadian people may obtain a clear idea of where federal government money goes, by the following breakdown.

Of each dollar collected by the Dominion this year:

24 cents will go to pay the interest on the national debt.

13 cents will go for family allowances.

12 cents will go for the maintenance of the defence forces.

12½ cents will go for pensions, medical treatment, and re-establishment allowances for veterans of World War 2.

3 cents will go for pensions and treatment of veterans of World War 1.

1 1/3 cents will be required for the federal contribution to the old age pensions.

3 cents will be required to pay subsidies to the provinces.

31 cents will go for general departmental purposes. — Brooks Bulletin.

or if Lane or others visited the round-up, their mounts were always there. The horses in the cowpunchers string were never rode by anyone else, except the men to whom they had been cut.

During this period the total count of Bar U cattle both on the Big Bow and the Pekisko range was estimated at 40,000, in addition to which were about 2000 horses.

Billy Henry left the employ of the Bar U at the conclusion of the last big open range roundup in the fall of 1907, and went to work for Pat Burns buying cattle all over the country. Of late years he has conducted his own layout near Lethbridge. He has now retired and making his home in High River.

There were 10,000 at the opening day of the Lethbridge rodeo.

The Assiniboine river has been flooding low-lying land in Western Manitoba. The Mississippi has been creating one of the worst floods in history.

A tornado swept through North Dakota and southern Manitoba last week killing ten people and injuring over 30. Telephone and electric wires were torn out, much livestock killed and a dozen towns hit.

Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable "Eye Opener"

In the Calgary Eye Opener of March 20, 1905, Bob Edwards recalls some of St. Patrick's immortal words. He is outraged because the postmaster of Milestone has disapproved of the circulation of the Eye Opener in that pure little Saskatchewan burg. He explains why he rarely visits in any home. It is because someone in the family always starts showing him the photograph album.

Calgary Eye Opener
March 20, 1905
The 17th of Ireland

The seventeenth of Ireland was pulled off with great eclat. By rights it should have been the seventeenth of Scotland because St. Patrick was a Scotsman born at Kilpatrick, Scotland. St. Patrick left many treatises the best known being "The Twelve Abuses of this age." The twelve abuses are (1) for the preacher not to practice his own precepts; (2) an old man without honor; (3) a young man without obedience; (4) a rich man without misgivings; (5) a chieftain without valor; (6) a woman without modesty; (7) a contentious Christian; (8) a haughty pauper; (9) a wicked King; (10) a neglectful bishop; (11) a crowd without discipline; (12) a people without law.

The Eye Opener Menace

Having a number of subscribers in the country south of Moose Jaw it occurred to the editor of the Eye Opener that a regular agent in the thriving town of Milestone might add to the gaiety of that region. Whereupon we wrote a letter to the postmaster in Milestone asking him if he knew of any kid in the neighborhood who would like to earn a little loose change selling the Eye Opener. In due course we got a staggering reply as follows: "Editor, Calgary Eye Opener—I would not care to comply with your request as I do not consider it would be conducive to the highest welfare of the community that your paper be circulated in our midst.—The Postmaster."

How is it that the prominent men of small burgs, editors included, are so fond of the expression "in our midst." Milestone is to be congratulated on having such a superior person as the postmaster "in its midst." Should we ever find ourselves in that city—in its midst—we shall call upon the postmaster and present him with an autographed copy of Bunyan's Pilgrims Progress. In the midst of Milestone we are in death. It is of course a foregone conclusion that the postmaster reads the Regina Leader and the Toronto Globe which would naturally have a paralyzing effect on the brain which after all, may lurk somewhere in the midst of his skull. Let us be charitable. If the postmaster's brains have become warped in the perusal of such pink literature the question rises "Is it conducive to the highest welfare of Milestone to have such a postmaster in its midst?"

The Family Album

We must explain to hospitable friends that we rarely visit in people's homes. The real reason is that we may be asked to look at the family album. Call it weak and craven of us if you will, but to tell the truth we cannot stand a session with the family album.

You sit down on the sofa and chat away about local happenings till conversation lags. Then the inevitable happens. The daughter of the house fishes out the album and sits down beside you to tell you who the photographs are supposed to be.

"Here is maw and paw when they were married."

"Well, well, which is which?"

"Go on, you're joking. And this is grandpaw."

"Was that taken before or after he was hanged?"

"Why grandpaw was never hanged—was he maw?"

"Good gracious no, not grandpaw."

"Now this one here is me when I was 8 years old."

"Are those the same legs you have now?"

"Certainly—What's the matter with them?"

"Oh nothing. They just look a little bulgy. Great Scott! Who's that villainous geezer?"

"Why that's maw's brother, unnie George."

"Is he alive?"

"No; he died some years ago."

"A violent death?"

"Not very. And this is a dear friend of mine who married Mr. Fopples of Moose Jaw."

"Popple! What a name. And what's that queer looking object in the picture?"

"What, that's a dear little baby, a lovely little baby belonging to Mrs. Popple. And here's another picture—You can't guess who it is."

"Why that is you isn't it. How it flatters you! Why don't you try to live up to that picture. Or have you one showing yourself in curlpapers and wrapper, swatting flies at the breakfast table?"

"Why you horrid man, I won't show you any more photographs. I think I'll sing for you."

"Heaven, not that, spare me that. Where's my hat? Good-night."

Require More Feed Grains

(Federal Minister Gardiner)

During the war agreements with Britain for supplying essential food products established a basis of prices reasonable to Canadian farmers. Similar agreements or contracts are in effect for the next one to two years, which means that farmers have a ready export market and are protected against any wide fluctuation in prices. These agreements with the British Ministry of Food call for any supplies over the amounts specified that can be made available of wheat, bacon, beef, cheese, evaporated milk, eggs, dressed poultry and several other products. There is also a high domestic demand for every kind of farm produce and there is evidence that several other countries want certain food products from Canada. It is apparent, therefore, that whatever problems confront the farmers of Canada, markets just now is not one of them. If a round balance of agriculture in Canada is to be maintained, the importance of a high ratio of meat and dairy production is essential. There has been an unavoidable sharp decline in meat production since the record year of 1944 and a slight falling off in dairy production. One of the principal causes of these declines has been the limitations of the feed supply, principally coarse grains. More feed grains will have to be produced if the present numbers of livestock are to be maintained, and still more if the production of meats and milk is to be increased, and there are ready markets for more of such products in Britain and other countries. Steps have been taken by the Dominion Government to encourage the growing of more feed grains by an adjustment

"BRUTE ERUDITION" IT IS CALLED

Juggling is hard enough and slack-rope walking too, but this circus chimpanzee combines both in his act. The circus publicity calls him a "daredevil emissary of brute erudition."

Moving Picture In E.P. Setting

The Duke of Windsor has given his consent to the use of the E.P. ranch as a setting for a moving picture to be filmed in July.

The film is being produced by Albert Rogell and a great party of the company will arrive for the Calgary Stampede, after which the serious work of making the picture will start.

Jackie Oakie and Joan Leslie are to co-star in the film "Rainbow Ridge." All the cast and crew will arrive by plane.

According to the Albertan, the furnishings at the Duke's ranch will remain unchanged but quite an amount will be spent in building accommodation for the crew and cast. Bunkhouses, stores, etc. will be built on the setting. Most of these will be sturdily built and will be left on the ranch after the movie is completed.

There are to be 103 technicians and staff engaged in the work.

This should cause quite a flurry in our quiet foothills.

Provincial Gov't Announces Policy. After Sept. 30 Bounty Will Be Reduced to $3 for Next Six Months

A bounty of $5 each on coyotes, including coyote pups, will be paid by the provincial government up to Sept. 30 when the price will be reduced to $3 for the next six months, it is announced.

The whole pelt or carcass must be submitted in applying for the bounty. The scalp is not sufficient. During the summer months the pelt should be salted. Both ears must be intact, and the person to whom the application is made must slit the ears from tip to base and return the pelt or carcass to the applicant.

Applications may be made to any R.C.M.P. constable, a justice of the peace, a commissioner for onths, a game officer or a forestry officer. The line and place of taking the coyote must be mentioned.

Only residents of the province who are not licensed dealers in pelts are eligible for the bounty. Payments will be made on all coyotes taken anywhere in the province except in the national parks.

The Advocate staff cannot make a house-to-house canvass for news every week but we are always glad to be phoned or handed in. We want all the news and are just as pleased to mention your guests or your visits as those of your neighbors—but maybe your neighbors co-operated with us in getting the facts. Phone your items in or drop them in at the office—as early in the week as possible. Your co-operation will be appreciated.

of prices for barley and oats.

The supply position with respect to feed grains is at present dangerously low. There is practically no reserve. If sufficient feed grains could be grown in both Western and Eastern Canada to maintain the livestock on farms and provide a year's reserve supply to take care of demands in the event of a short crop year, it would be of tremendous economic advantage nationally and help to maintain a balanced agriculture, which may become unbalanced if the importance of livestock production is lost sight of.

To assist the farmers of Canada in carrying out a balanced program of production all the services and facilities of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are readily available. The services include those provided by Science, Experimental Farms, Production and Marketing. At the same time the Dominion Department co-operates in every way possible with the Provincial Departments, Agricultural Colleges and every other agency that has for its objective the development of Canadian agriculture. The maintenance of peace and the promotion of human happiness and security is intimately linked with food. The part of farmers in this is obvious.

Alta. Recipe For Grilled Steak

Grilled Alberta Ranch Steak is $600 Prize Winning Dish in Recipe Campaign. Second Prize Roast Ribs of Beef

Mrs. Jessie Hazard Smith of Edmonton was awarded first prize in the Alberta recipe contest. There were over 6000 entries from all over the province and the grilled Alberta Gold Medal ranch steak was considered tops. Dilettantes have been at work for weeks testing all the entries and eliminating after full test. Then a five-judge panel made the award.

Mrs. Smith won $600, and Mrs. Frank Day of Calgary won the second prize of $250 for her recipe for standing roast ribs.

The first prize recipe is as follows:

Ingredients: Cut off the filet of a rump, sirloin or tenderloin steak. One tablespoon of butter, salt and pepper.

Method: In order to cook this steak successfully, it should first be dipped in salad oil, rubbed with salt or suet, and placed in a pre-heated pan and quickly seared. Salt or suet is rubbed on the steak to prevent it from burning. The steak then is grilled. The fork used to turn the meat must not puncture the meat, or be pressed into it so as to make holes, which would allow the juices to escape.

When done the steak should be sprinkled with butter, salt and pepper, and served on a piping-hot dish. The steak may be garnished with parsley, mushrooms, tomatoes, or fried onions. The garnish must be ready, and the steak should grill from eight to 12 minutes. It may be served with a baked potato or French fried potatoes.

Standing Roast Ribs

"Choose a three standing rib roast of beef and season it with salt and pepper. Place in open roasting pan with fat side up. As the fat melts and cooks out it will baste the meat, and does not require a meat rack. It is important that the roast is not covered, and that no water is added. It should be cooked in a moderate oven of from 300 to 350 degrees Fahrenheit, and roasted until finished. If roast is desired to be medium done, it should be cooked for 25 minutes per pound. A well-done roast requires 30 minutes per pound.

"If it is preferred to be a rolled rib roast, the bones may be removed by the butcher. In this case a meat rack would be required for roasting.

"To complete the all-Alberta dollar-dish, potatoes—which are uniform in size should be peeled and placed around the roast one hour before the roast is done. The other vegetables should be young carrots scraped and cooked whole. If old carrots are used they must be cut into small pieces. The carrots take 30 minutes cooking time and should then be placed in a warm vegetable dish. Melt two tablespoons of butter and pour this over them; sprinkle with chopped parsley."

Mrs. Day suggested that dessert be pie made from Alberta grown rhubarb, pumpkin or Saskatoon berries.

MUELLER-SAILER

The "Haven of rest" at Medicine Hat was the scene of a pretty wedding, June 21, when Miss Pauline Sailer, of Medicine Hat, exchanged marriage vows with Emery H. Mueller, of Champion. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

An archway of pink and white streamers, flanked by standards of potted ferns was the setting for the ceremony. Rev. R. Milbrandt officiated.

White satin fashioned the Brides floor length gown styled with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long fitted lily point sleeves, her finger tip length veil, fell from a coronet of tiny white flowers, a shower arrangement of red roses formed her bouquet. A two strand necklace of pearls, gift of the groom was her only jewelry. The bridesmaid, Miss Fern Smith, chose pale blue sheer for her gown, with matching chapel veil, her bouquet was of pink and white carnations. Shirley Mueller, niece of groom, was flower girl, her frock was of white satin with pink sash and matching hair bow, she carried a nosegay of sweet-peas and carnations. Mr. Ray Sailer was groomsmen. Mr. George Mueller and Edwin Sailer ushered the guests. Mr. R. Milbrandt was organist "Oh Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

A reception was held at the Cosmopolitan Hotel.

The brides mother, Mrs. Sailer, was attired in blue with white lace inserts, matching hat and a corsage of tallismon roses.

For travelling to Spokane, and other points in the U.S., where the honeymoon was spent, the bride changed to a grey crepe afternoon dress topped by a pale blue shortie coat and black accessories. A wedding dance was held in the Champion Community hall July 4th. Mr. and Mrs. Mueller have taken up residence on the groom's farm in the Champion district.

FATH-McKEAGE

St. Francis de Sales church, High River was the scene of a pretty summer wedding, Thursday July 3rd at eleven a.m. when Jean Irene McKeeage, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McKeeage, Blackie, pledged nuptial vows with Raymond Louis Fath of Champion, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fath of Nelson, B.C. Bouquets of pink and white peonies, reflected in the glow of lighted cathedral tapers formed the setting for the ceremony at which Rev. Father Fitzpatrick officiated, assisted by Rev. Father Retter of Vulcan—Champion.

During the nuptial mass, the choir, with Mrs. Dr. Soby at the organ sang special music with Miss Mabel Luco of Lethbridge, singing "On This Day" at the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was lovely in a traditional gown of white slipper satin, styled with bouffant skirt, topped by a fitted bodice featuring a sweetheart neckline and long lily-point sleeves. Her full length veil of French net cascaded from a spray of calla lilies and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Tallismon Roses and Stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

The brides sisters acted as her attendants. Mrs. Florence Ridley as matron of honor, was attired in a floor length model of blue nylon marquisette with fitted bodice featuring long sleeves, while Miss Gwen McKeeage as bridesmaid wore a similar gown of pink nylon marquisette and lace with matching lace gloves. Both complimented their ensembles with coronets of self material and satin ribbon, and carried colonial bouquets of pastel sweet peas.

The groom was attended by his brother Harold Fath while the guests were ushered in by Ernest McKeeage, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at St. Benedict's Parish hall, attended by about fifty guests, where the bride's mother and the mother of the groom received with the wedding party.

The former chose a tailored ensemble in turquoise blue with grey hat and accessories, complimented by a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother was attired in an aqua-blue wool suit, matching hat and black accessories. Her corsage was also pink carnations.

A three-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table, which was arranged with vases of pastel columbine flanked by tall white tapers.

Father Ritter proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded.

Mr. and Mrs. Fath left later to spend their honeymoon in Great Falls Montana and Yellowstone National Park, the bride traveling in a blue gabardine suit, complimented with a pink blouse, and black hat featuring pink ribbon trim. Her accessories were of black plastic and her corsage a single white gardenia. Topping all was a white wool shortie coat.
